1943 CONVENTION AT WASHINGTON

The 1943 Convention of Telluride Association will convene at the Statler Hotel in Washington, D.C., at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, May 29.

Those who plan to be present should notify Bonham Campbell of the Convention Arrangements Committee at once, advising him of the time of arrival. Campbell will give to the Statler an assignment of rooms on the basis of the information he receives. Campbell's address is 362 N. Glebe Rd., Arlington, Va.

All officers and permanent committees must prepare their reports in advance of Convention and make as many copies as feasible. Copies of these reports should be sent in advance of Convention to the Secretary and the chairmen of the appropriate committees. Convention committees should conclude much of their work in advance in order to expedite the meetings.

In view of the limited time at our disposal, the following tentative agenda is submitted for guidance:

May 29, 1943:

10:00 A.M. General Meeting - Officer and permanent committee reports.
11:00 A.M. Committee meetings.
12:30 P.M. Lunch (at Statler).
2:00 P.M. General meeting - Balance of reports.
3:00 P.M. Committee meetings.
6:15 P.M. Dinner (at Statler).
8:00 P.M. General meeting - Deep Springs; Endowment.
9:30 P.M. Committee meetings.

May 30, 1943:

10:00 A.M. General meeting - Membership; Preferment; Chancellor and Dean.
12:30 P.M. Lunch (at Statler).
2:00 P.M. General meeting - Election of officers; emergency resolutions; lease of Telluride House; Finance - budget.
6:15 P.M. Dinner (at Statler).
8:00 P.M. General meeting - Finance & Investment; resolutions; other business.

Any suggestions for expediting the business of this convention should be sent to Campbell of the Arrangements Committee. Any convention committee chairman who cannot attend should advise President
Withdraw at once so that a substitute may be appointed.

Secretary Olin reported to the News Letter on May 4 that, of the 76 members of the Association, 22 will attend, 3 will probably attend, 7 will probably not attend, 16 will not attend, and 59 had sent in proxies. Should a quorum not attend, President Withrow will designate the meeting that of the Central Advisory Committee instead of a convention.

PERSONAL NOTES

No word has been received from Lieut. Robt. J. Huffcut, Jap prisoner of war, since the U. S. government notified his family in late Dec. of his capture at the fall of Corregidor. At present, parcels cannot be sent to Huffcut. Letters for Huffcut should be addressed as follows:

2nd Lieut. Robert J. Huffcut, U. S. Army,
Interned by Japan,
Formerly of the Philippine Islands,
%Japanese Red Cross, Tokyo, Japan,
Via New York, New York.

The name and address of the sender should be on the back of the envelope; "Prisoner of War Mail" should be written on upper left corner of envelope, and "Postage -- Free" written on upper right.

Dr. Herbert J. Reich of the staff of the Univ. of Ill. is preparing the revised manuscript for his "Principles of Electron Tubes," which has been approved for use in the New Army training program.

Doctor Reich's later book, "Ultra-High-Frequency Techniques," which was published in Aug., sold 15,000 copies in the first six months and has been adopted by over 100 technical schools and colleges, in addition to 25 or 30 commercial and government organizations and high schools. GEORGE LINCOLN BURR

His Life and Selections from His Writings

Biographer: Roland H. Bainton
Editor: Lois Oliphant Gibbons

Such a book as this has long been called for by the countless friends, students, and admirers of George Lincoln Burr. Combining, as it does, the biography of a good man with the writings of a great scholar, it is a happy tribute to the life and learning of Cornell's Professor Burr.

A large audience of readers will be interested by the essays which are included in this book: essays on just such varied subjects as fascinated their author throughout a long and distinguished career, written with the same scholarly thoroughness and inspiring sincerity that motivated his every project. The article on the famous dispute over the Venezuela-Guiana Boundary, for example, remains an important testimony to the powers of arbitration, in general; to the brilliant research of George Lincoln Burr; in particular. And his presidential address to the American Historical Association on "The Freedom of History" is a profound summing-up that philosopher, humanist, and critic, as well as historian, can study with benefit.

A smaller audience, one whose members will read this book remembering their own acquaintance with "Poppy" Burr, will find in it a special value. To them, the 150 pages of biography, no less than the 350 pages of collected writings, will be a lasting reminder of a teacher and friend who shared his limitless store of erudition, of helpful advice, and of understanding with all who knew him. For this smaller audience, the book not only makes accessible much of the written work of a keen scholar, but it also preserves the story of a man who, as student, librarian, professor, and counselor, added his share to the stature and to the tradition of Cornell University.

This volume is of special interest and value to all our Telluride associates. The edition is limited to 500 copies. Special announcements are being addressed personally to 1200 persons -- to our Telluride associates, to former friends, students, and colleagues of Professor Burr -- and you should at once send your order to the Cornell University Press, Ithaca, New York, to be sure that you will get your copy.

ITHACA, NEW YORK
A glance at the personal news items in this and previous numbers of the News Letter shows that the chief interest and activity of our Telluride and Deep Springs associates is war. They are scattered over every land and ocean of the earth, in every branch of the armed services; from the oldest Pinhead to the youngest schoolboy at Deep Springs, our combined talents and work -- and lives -- are concentrated on a single awful purpose. War is far removed from the functioning and purpose of Deep Springs and the Association; our ideal and training are indeed at complete variance with the activities of warfare, but we find that we must devote our personal and group lives to the business of restoring the world to where the ideals and training of men of good will and sound virtue may flourish.

We have a solemn duty in the conduct of the war. And when the war is over, we have an equally solemn -- but more difficult -- duty to use our intelligence and training to help to make of the world a place where mankind can do more than survive in armed fear and suspicion. Over the years at Telluride and Deep Springs meetings we have heard a lot about ideals and selfless purpose and intelligent leadership. The next half century presents an opening for us to show whether what we have been saying is merely 'public speaking' or the expression of men devoted to an enlightened way of life.

Mrs. A. M. Johnson Dies

Mrs. Bessie Morris Penniman Johnson, 71, wife of A. M. Johnson, was instantly killed near Panamint Springs on April 22 when she fell out of her automobile as the door opened when the car skidded.

The accident occurred while Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were returning from a brief vacation at The Castle to their home at 7333 Franklin Avenue, Hollywood, Calif.

Branch Dining Room Plans Submitted

Harold and Margaret Atkinson have made and submitted plans for the redecoration, remodeling, and refurnishing of the dining-room at Telluride House. The burgundy-red wall-covering has over the years become shabby, the lighting fixtures are obsolete, and the woodwork needs painting. As a project for future consideration, the Atkinsons' plan is of unusual interest.
The Atkinson plan calls for pale-azure walls and dark emerald-green linoleum on the floor. Draperies will be eliminated and venetian blinds put in all windows. The furniture will be three blond maple "Aalto" tables and thirty chairs, the latter brightly upholstered with tapestry of brown, green, and yellow striped material. Strikingly colorful murals of conventionalized fruits and vegetables flank the door in the west wall.

DEEP SPRINGS NOTES
(R. L. Armesen) April 30.

In the last week of March the student body took its spring trip, hiking across Eureka Valley to Willow Springs. Only one small car was used to carry provisions the 25 miles; and although somewhat strenuous, the trip was quite successful.

Eighteen acres have been reseeded in alfalfa with a cover crop of oats. Heavy rainfall this spring has helped the alfalfa and vegetable garden considerably.

Since Mrs. George Sabine has been here she has given a number of talks to the community on various phases of physiology. She has also given tutorials in organic chemistry and geometry.

Private Ray Munds in the Army Air Force at Montana State College has kept the student body well informed of his activities. As a cadet he has no formal academic work and expects soon to be in Santa Ana, Cal., for flight training. A few flying visits to the valley have been made by 2nd Lt. H. E. Beal, who is stationed at the Army Air Field at Tonopah, Nev.

TELLURIDIANA

The following material has been received for the historical files of the Association:

"Freedom of Instruction in War Time," by Dr. Walter Cerf of the Dept. of Philosophy, Northwestern Univ.

"History of A-C Wave Form; its Determination and Standardization," by Dr. Frederick Bedell, reprinted from AIEE Transactions, Vol. 61, 1942. In his article Doctor Bedell refers to the pioneer work in the electrical industry of the Nunn brothers.

"Navajo Independence and Acculturation," by Dr. Erik K. Reed, reprinted from American Anthropologist, Vol. 43, No. 4, Oct.-Dec., 1941.

"This was New York," by Major Frank Monaghan and Marvin Lowenthal, published on April 23, 1943, by Doubleday, Doran & Co., Inc. The writers recapture and present the life of New York, the nation's capital in 1789. (308 pages, price $2.75)

COLLINGWOOD GETS PEAODY AWARD

Charles Collingwood received a George Foster Peabody Award for 1942, radio's top prize, for his CBS broadcasts from North Africa. Collingwood went abroad with a Rhodes Scholarship, worked for the United Press in Amsterdam between terms at Oxford, and went to London when the war broke out, joining CBS there two years ago. Kay Francis, the cinema actress, is reported to have said of Collingwood that "he is the only man in Africa who knows where to get a suit pressed."

TELLURIDE HOUSE MAY BE LEASED FOR NAVYMEN

Officers of the Association and Cornell University are working out details of a lease which would let Telluride House to the University for the duration of the war for the housing of Naval officers and specialists while they study at Cornell. President Withrow, with Parker Bailey and E. B. Henley of the Judiciary Committee, is handling the negotiations, and the President with the written concurrence of four other Custodians has authority to act. No details are at present available for publication.

The University will lease a group of Campus fraternity buildings on behalf of the government; it will remove and store all furniture and fixtures and put GI cots, chairs, and desks in the houses to be occupied. The first floor of Telluride House would be used for a study hall and the upper floors for the housing of about 100 Navy men. All servicing and care of the leased buildings will be done by the University. Buildings must be ready for occupancy on July 1.

Older Association men will recall that Telluride House during the last war was used as living quarters for some 40 Army officers.
